PANTALETTE FROCK
NEW ON BOARDWALK

Tassels Worn on Gowns—Pique Hats are in Evidence.

Special to The Washington Herald. The plant showed forth in the styles of the week in the gay processions along the great Boardwalk today. Summer fashions had their lining in the kaleidoscope reviews in which freak costumes vie for popularity with the saner and more refined frock. The demonstration provided a study not only for mere man but for the matron as well. She marvels at the taste of her sister promenade and, in fact, goes to greater extremes herself.

The polka dot gave variety to summer frocks today. The plant showed forth in the styles of the week in the gay processions along the great Boardwalk today. Summer fashions had their lining in the kaleidoscope reviews in which freak costumes vie for popularity with the saner and more refined frock. The demonstration provided a study not only for mere man but for the matron as well. She marvels at the taste of her sister promenade and, in fact, goes to greater extremes herself.

Tassels bobbed up everywhere on the boardwalk yesterday. They were used on wraps, hats and bags. It was an exclusive touch. Woven cords, belts, finished with tassels, added a smart distinction to an otherwise plain frock. Apropos of tassels, girls of roses gave a pretty contrast to many handsome creations. College colors are combined in many dress accessories this year.

Stunners, These Bathing Suits. There was a study in bathing suits today that was nothing short of wonderful. It was plainly seen that in most of the new designs, built for show rather than wear. The consequences of water on some of the creations were not prophesied. The glitz of styles are the most popular. The red and white striped, the green and white striped, the blue and white striped, the black and white striped, the red and white striped, the green and white striped, the blue and white striped, the black and white striped.

Some Stylish Washingtonians. Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt and her daughter, Miss Cornelia Vanderbilt, motored down from Washington this week. Mrs. Vanderbilt is spending a fortnight at the Traymore Hotel, near Baltimore. Mrs. C. C. Orem, of Washington, has started the fashion of wearing striped satin skirts with sweaters of plain blue, green, yellow, and red. Mrs. C. C. Holman, of Madison, Wisconsin, farm organizer and agricultural writer yesterday.

Mr. Holman is secretary of the National Agricultural Organization, Society representing one hundred and twenty farm organizations and is in Washington aiding the food administration.

FRENCH WOMEN SEEK RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE

Parisian League Presents Petition to Chamber of Deputies. By C. F. BERTELLE, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, July 11.—Encouraged by the success that the last day of every efforts of the English suffragettes, the "League for Women's Suffrage" of France has presented a petition to the Chamber of Deputies asking for the right of equal suffrage for all Frenchwomen.

Despite the fact that the granting of such a petition would be an almost revolutionary step in a country where women have had the slightest political power, the leaders of the movement are confident they will obtain the vote. Mmes. Marguerite Durand and Maria Veronise, who headed the delegation, explained on what they base their hopes to me as follows:

"Equal political rights that we are demanding are the last of every efforts of the English suffragettes, the 'League for Women's Suffrage' of France has presented a petition to the Chamber of Deputies asking for the right of equal suffrage for all Frenchwomen.

Gen. Harries 'Comes Back' To Lead Nebraska Guard

With the return to the city of Maj. Gen. George H. Harries, National Guard of the District of Columbia, retired, yesterday, came the news of his appointment as a brigadier general of the Nebraska National Guard, with orders to take command as soon as that organization is mustered into Federal service.

While it has been rumored for some time that he was slated for an important army post, Maj. Gen. Harries has refused to express himself on the subject until yesterday when he received official confirmation of his appointment from Omaha.

AUSTRIA UNWEAKENED ITALIANS ARE WARNED

Returned Prisoner Says Enemy's Condition Is Good. By CAMILLO CIANFARRA, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Rome, July 12.—Aristide Sartorio, the famous painter of the Roman Campagna, has just returned from captivity in Austria and disposes, for the time being at least, of reports concerning the political disintegration of Austria, a probable revolution due to the scarcity of foods, a separatist movement and the possibility of defeating Austria in any other way was save on the field of battle.

"The truth is quite otherwise," Sartorio said. "In order to win we must summon all our energies and make a supreme effort against a foe neither tired nor weakened."

"Speaking of what he had seen while crossing German and Austrian territory, the painter said he had seen a large number of invalid prisoners after spending two years at the Mauthausen concentration camp. The painter said he had seen the dangerous belief prevailing in Italy that Austria is exhausted or nearly so."

"The same can be said of Austria," Sartorio said. "I have seen the ruins of the cities and the devastation of the land. I have seen the ruins of the cities and the devastation of the land. I have seen the ruins of the cities and the devastation of the land."

WOMAN TELLS STORY OF PERSHING VOYAGE

Mrs. Palmer Describes Feelings of First Soldiers Sent Abroad. (By the International News Service.) Albany, N. Y., July 11.—A story of the trip to England on the ship carrying Gen. Pershing and his staff has been received here from Mrs. Frederick Palmer, wife of the war correspondent. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer accompanied the American military chief.

"During the eleven days and nights of the trip the passengers virtually lived in safety suits and wore life preservers, in fear of attack by German submarines. Life preservers were placed on deck the second day out, and then came the hours of waiting until the liner should reach the danger zone."

"Today is Wednesday and it is growing steadily colder, the windows covered with a light frost. A thin fog hangs over the water. As there is no heat anywhere most of the passengers are shivering and all have on their warmest clothes. The stewards have been putting great piles of life preservers at all the exits to the lifeboats, together with blankets, heavy blankets, all handy for snatching in case of need, and, equally handy, stand big barrels of hard soap for passengers with the special safety suits to clean the rubber pouch full. I filled my brandy flasks this morning and then went on deck and watched the sailors stow provisions in the lifeboats."
